ABOUT ME

I am a proud alumnus of Zetech University, where I honed my skills and expertise. My passion lies deeply in computers, programming, and article writing. With five years of experience as a software developer and web developer, I have delved into various programming languages and technologies, constantly expanding my knowledge through online courses and self-study.

In addition to my proficiency in software development and web development, I have dedicated time to broaden my understanding of accounting principles and familiarize myself with Adobe's suite of programs, including Dreamweaver, Photoshop, Lightroom, and Premiere Pro. My proficiency in these tools has been instrumental in my work, particularly in video editing projects undertaken through platforms such as Fiverr and freelancer sites.

Throughout my career, I have undertaken diverse roles as a solo developer and as part of a team, as evidenced by the projects showcased in my portfolio. These experiences have equipped me with a versatile skill set, cultivated through my academic endeavors and hands-on practical experience gained in various professional settings.
